Cracked By Dawn

Love--

that precious stubborn hope eating away the heart like a cancer, tied with incurable passion becoming both means and the end.

Love--

that cannot be gained or lost only desired, forces me to stay but still says "No."

Love--

that gracious and cruel twist of fate answers whispered prayers by night then leaves me lonesome, cracked by dawn.

